Privacy policy for www.athena-design.eu.

The privacy of visitors on www.athena-design.eu is very important to us. We do realize that the confidentiality of personal data is important to you too. Down here we indicate what types of information we collect and where we use this information for.

Log Files

Like most sites, we collect data in our log files. This includes your IP address, your browser information (for example, Firefox or Internet Explorer), your ISP, the time of your visit and which pages you have visited.

Cookies en web beacons

We show advertisements of third parties on our site www.athena-design.eu (for example from Google AdSense). Some of these advertisers use technology such as cookies and Web beacons when they advertise on our site.

These advertisers may collect information such as your IP address, your ISP, your browser or if have flash installed. This information may be used for geo-targeting (e.g. to show you lighting shops in your region) or to show you ads based on sites, you have previously visited (e.g. auction agendas of auction sites or special offers of lighting manufacturers).

DoubleClick DART cookies

DART cookies may be used for displaying ads through Google's DoubleClick. These cookies are placed when you visit a website that uses Google's DoubleClick Advertising (including some Google AdSense advertisements). This cookie is used to display ads that fit the visitor's preferences (interest based targeting).

The ads shown are related to the Web sites you've visited in the past. For example, if you visited sites about music concerts, it may be possible that you see ads for music concerts later while you are on a non-related site, like for instance a football website. DART uses only information that is not identifiable to individual information. It keeps no personal data such as name, address, bank account numbers, etc. Opting out of this service is possible on the following page.
http://www.doubleclick.com/privacy/dart_adserving.aspx.

To switch off Cookies

You can choose to switch off cookies in your browser or, for example, through a firewall such as Norton Internet Security. This may affect the use of our site and especially the interaction with our website. For example, this could result in no longer being able to access your user account.